THE FIRST UNION MEMORIAL EXER-CISES IN NORFOLK.

An Imposing Column-The Armstrong-Memorial Church-Revival Meeting at the Tabernacle.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.) Nonrock, Va., June 15 .- The first union memorial exercises of the Independent Order of Odd-Fellows of this section attracted an immense crowd to the Sam Jones Tabernacie, on Queen street, yester-day afternoon. All the lodges of the two cities and of this vicinity were in line, under Chief-Marshal H. A. Tarrall, headed by a handsomely-uniformed battalion of Patriarchs Militant, under command of Major N. E. After the hymns and prayer Colonel William Lamb delivered the memorial address. The death-roll was then read by Past-Grand E. M. Solomon, followed by a sermon by Rev. Dr. A. E. Owen, of Portsmouth. After another bymn the exercises were brought to a close with the Doxology and benediction. CHURCH DEDICATION.

The handsome new Presbyterian church in Berkley, the Armstrong-Memorial church—named after the venerable Rev. Dr. George D. Armstrong, the retiring pastor of the First Presbyterian church—was formally dedicated to the worship of Almighty God yesterday afternoon at haltpast 4 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering. Rev. Dr. W. W. Moore, of the Union Theological Seminary, and other ministers took part, and Dr. Armstrong preached the dedication sermon, his subject being "The Glory of the Church," A good collection was raised.

THE GOOD WORK.

The distinguished evangelist, Rev. Dr. R. G. Pearson, commences to-night a series of meetings at the People's (Sam Jones's) Tabernacle, in which all the evangelistic churches and ministers of the city will assist. The work is promising and the meetings will doubtless result in a great success. The statistics of the Chamber of Com

To Keep Up with the March of Progress-The Furnace Blast.

Salem, June 15, -At its meeting last Tuesday the Council raised the town levy for the forthcoming year from 50 cents to 7 cents on the $100 in order to meet the in cents on the $1.00 in order to meet the acreased demands for improvements. In addition to the revenue from licenses the town receives a considerable amount from its water-works and the electric-light franchise, and should a street-car line be laid down this fall this will still further swell JOHN M'CAULL.

Salem people regret very much to hear of the sad fate of the once great opera director, John McCaull, who lived for many years in Salem, was editor of the paper here, and represented the county in the Legislature. It is possible some public move may be made to aid him in his hour of need.

Impatient "boomers" have been fretting for six months over the delay in this matter, and there is no question that the sooner the furnace is in blast the better it will be for Salem. Experts claim it will be late in August before they light the fires, and by that time the Salem Rolling-Mill should be ready, asithey hope to be able to turn out cotton-ties for this year's crop, and will probably use a great deal of Salem pig-iron in their operations.

A BOY RESCUED BY A GIRL.

She Pulls Him Out of a Well Fifty-Four Feet Deep-Labor Scarce.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]
DUNNSVILLE, June 12.—A remarkable accident and still more remarkable rescue occurred at Woodland, near here, about 1 o'clock P. M. The well there is some fifty-four feet deep, and has an open platform over it. A little colored boy 'named Jee Johnson, just three years and six months old, fell through this platform to the bottom of the well. All of the grown members of the family were off in the neighborhood picking cherries, but fortunately a young colored girl employed by Mr. E. W. Kaiete, who occupies Woodland dwelling-house, chanced to hear the commotion of other chaps who saw Joe fall into the well. She ran and let the bucket down and called to Joe to crawl into it and catch hold of the chain. This the little fellow did, and Florence brought him safely out. This well is bricked about thirty feet from the bottom, and the boy was truly fortunate in not striking against the wall in his fall or he would have been knocked out of his senses and drowned. He was very weak for a time after being brought out, but is fully restored now, and gives quite a clear account of his trip for one of his age. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

PICKERS WANTED. Plea-picking is about wound up, and cherry-pickers are in great demand hereabouts. Notwithstanding the inberal share allowed for gathering and good prices paid at the factory near by, it is very difficult to get the fruit gathered. Much of it is just rotting and wasting. Grown men and women are alraid to climb as a general thing, so that the work is more or less dependent upon boys and girls.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]
HAMTON, June 15.—The grand jury to day found an indictment against Thoraton C. Haines for the murder of Ed. Hannagan, and on motion of counsel for defence the case was continued. It will probably come up at the July term of the County Court. It is said that Colonel Thomas Tabb has been engaged for the defence. INSTANT DEATH.

Dr. J. H. Peek made a post-mortem examination on yesterday, and found that the bullet penetrated the heart and caused instant death. It is said that the evidence is very strong against Haines, showing that the deceased was rowing when the fatal shot was fired. Haines claims in self-defence that Hannagan was about to strike him with an oar when he fired.

VIRGINIA'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT. Recent Press Expressions on This Impor (Portsmouth Progress.)

(Portsmouth Progress.)

General W. H. F. Lee when he said in Washington the other day that the Democrats of Virginia were not deeply interested in the fortunes of any one aspirant to the presidency of the Luited States for the next term, but were profoundly concerned for the success of the nomines of the next Democrate national convention. So let us all say. Virginia Democrats must not become panderers to the ambitud of any man or followers of aspirants instead of advocates of principles. If the Aliance men of this State are eighty thousand strong, as they are, no candidate whim they refuse to support can be relied upon to carry Virginia, whether he be a sound Democrat or not.

The above, from The Richmond Dis-

Democrat or not.

The above, from The Richmond Disparch, is sound doctrine. Virginians always back and will continue to support a man put up by the people if he be a man of honor and principle, but for a scheming politician who has only the interest of his pocket at heart our people have no use whatever, and that man will receive but little support from this section.

(Norfolk Ledger.)

We have paid but slight attention to the many statements which have appeared during the past year giving the views of this or that prominent man as to Virginia's probable choice for the presidency in the next Democratic nominating convention for the reason that we attached very little importances to such utterances. The time has not yet arrived to ascertain the particular individual that Virginia will support; until it does we rather incline to the opinion that the views recently expressed by Representative Lee, as reported by Tar Richmon Disparce, more nearly represent public sentiment in our State than most of those which have appeared in print. The Disparce says: (Reprinted in the foregoing paragraph.) the foregoing paragraph.)

The Disparch maintains that primary schools need the "best and most considerate teachers," and our contemporary is right. The bad orthography and sing-song reading of primary schools are rarely ever gotten over. No one is competent to teach a primary school whose reading aloud does not give evidence of ready grasp of unstudied selections submitted by Superintendent or Board of Trustees. Such reading is a better test of qualification than answers to prearranged questions drawn from text-books,—Warrenten True Index.

INTERESTING DECISIONS ON VARIOUS POINTS INVOLVED.

Annual Meeting of the Y. M. C. A .- Graduates of the High School-Honor to a Veteran Printer.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] Petersuuro, Va., June 15 .- The Circuit Court of Petersburg met this morning at Il o'clock to try the motions for the verification of coupons tendered by certain tax-payers. There are forty-seven of these cases, necessitating the summoning of as many different and separate juries. In two of the cases the tax-payers, by their counsel, asked leave to withdraw their tender, as it had been made for school and liquor-license taxes, which motion the liquor-license taxes, which motion the Court allowed. This means that the money tendered along with these coupons will be covered in the treasury for the taxes.

Several cases were tried without any serious objection on the part of the Commonwealth, but whenever the case of J. H. Bailey came up for trial the counsel for the State demurred to the petition on the ground that the same did not describe the coupons tendered with sufficient certainty. The Court held that the petition was good. THE STATE DEMURRED.

After the evidence in the case of E. J. Collins had been introduced the State demurred to the evidence, and after argument upon the demurrer the Court sustained the demurrer upon the ground that under the recent decision of Chaffin ex. the Commonwealth, of the Court of Appeals, it was necessary to allege that the coupons were not tendered for school or liquortaxes. This allegation being necessary in the petition, the Court said it is incumbent upon the petitioner to prove it. The pon the petitioner to prove it. The croof failing in this respect judgment was endered for the Commonwealth.

INTEREST FOLLOWS THE BOND INTEREST FOLLOWS THE BOSD.

In the case of M. The Court held that it was compared. thereon within his years the barred. The Court held that it was competent for the Legislature to pass a law requiring actions for interest upon State bonds to be brought in a reasonable time after such interest becomes due, but in the absence of any special statute on the subject the interest follows the bond as the shadow follows the substance, and the fact that the interest is evidenced by coupons does not change the result.

The rest of the day was consumed in trying other cases of a similar nature. Many minor points were raised by counsel for the State, and promptly decided by the Court. Colonel R. H. Maury, of Richmond, represented the tax payers and Judge W. H. Maura and J. M. Mullen. Esos, the State.

There was an impression among the people of that State that perhaps, under the existing circumstances in New York, with the Hill and Cleveland following fighting each other, it would be unwise to nominate either of them. If this factional feeling was kept at its present pitch after the nomination it would be doubtful whether either of them could carry New York. Gun-Room, and it appears never to have been answered.

As I am an admirer of Oliver Goldsmith and have read all his plays, all his essays, all his poems—the latter I have by heart—even his civil and natural histories, I felt interested and so began a search after the "Old Grouse in the Gun-Room."

I wrote to a lady in New York who is an ardent Goldsmithian to assist me in the search. She with commendable zeal has turned over the leaves of countless volumes, and reports as yet no discovery.

I have therefore come at length to the conclusion that Goldsmith used a poet's ligence and fabricated the story.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Your paper of this morning contains an account of General Taliaferro's address to the Lee Camp last night.

In it he is reported as follows: "Describing Jackson's narrow escape from capture at the battle of Cross Keys, the General said he had no reason to doubt that Jackson with his characteristic coolness personated a Federal officer and commanded the gunners who had the piece on the bridge not to fire."

This is a striking instance of the way in which history gets itself written.

I had the account of this thrilling incident given below from the lips of the chief actor not long after the occurrence, and at intervals afterwards when allusion was made to it.

dackson by the captured Confederate officers stood beside the commander of the Federal advance some of his troopers returned to him and pointed out the long train of wagons burrying away, apparently without armed escort, just beyond the outskirts of the village. He immediately ordered a strong body of cavalry in pursuit and the hearts of the Confederates sank within them, for they knew that this was Jackson's ordnance train, containing the reserve ammunition of the whole army; and that all its other baggage was equally at the mercy of the enemy. But as the eager Federals reached the head of the village they were met by a volley of musketry which sent them seampering back, and when they returned to the charge two pieces of artillery opened upon them to the equal surprise and delight of their anxious captives, and speedily cleared the streets with showers of canister. The explanation was that one with these and a section of raw artillerists from the reserves had boldly attacked the enemy." (Life and Campaigns of Jackson, from the reserves had boldly attacked the enemy." (Life and Campaigns of Jackson, pp. 411 and 412.)

The truth of the case is that the "section of raw artillerists" was a part of Carrington's battery from Charlottesville, commanded by Lieutenant John Henry Timberlake, with two guns. They had been with the army of Jackson for some weeks and were comparatively well-drilled, though not veterans. The Lieutenant, a cousin of Colonel Hilary P. Jones, was twenty-two years old, and had been elected at the number of the Albemarle militia regiment, having received military training at the school of Colonel John remarkable military aptitude for his years.

It is rather strange that more than twenty years ago the public felt much interest in this subject, and provision was made for the care of this class of our unfortunate citizens. While the Pinel Hospital was in full blast the "Retreat for the Sick," then occupying the large building aljoining the Medical College, had a jim-jam room for those patients who could not be accommodated at the Pinel or who could not afford to go there.

NO ASYLUM SOUTH OF PHILADELPHIA.

I was delighted this morning by seeing in your paper that a move was on foot to re-quest the street-car companies to place on their lines separate cars for white and col-

red people. It is true, as stated, that many persons are It is true, as stated, that many persons are deterred from riding on street-cars for fear of having unpleasant altercations with the dirty and insolent negroes who crowd them, particularly on Sundays.

No father can see his daughters or young man the lady he is escorting crowded between two insolent, dirty negro men without feelings of indignation. I never take my wife or daughter on them if I can avoid it, and know of many others who think and act as I do.

Date of the Destruction of the Engle Hotel. OFFICE OF MUTUAL INSUBANCE SOCIETY, RICHMOND, June 15, 1891.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: To the Editor of the Dispatch:

In answer to the inquiry in Sunday's issue as to when the old Eagle Hotel, on the south side of Main between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, was destroyed by fire we have to say that the records of the society show that the hotel was burnt on the 30th day of December, 1833, and that the society paid $28,600 for that loss to Abner Robinson, Isbam Puckett, and their assignees,

AN ELABORATE REPORT OF A VERY EXPERT COMMITTEE.

Other Committees Appointed to Investigate Other Natural-Rock Localities-Planters and Tongers.

MATHEWS COURTHOUSE, VA., June 11 .- A ass-meeting of citizens assembled in the ourt-house Saturday to receive the report of the committee charged at a previous neeting with the investigation of leased public bottoms on Puliz Bar and North Mobjack Flats, alleged to be natural rock. This being an adjourned meeting, Captain J. B. Thurston resumed the chair, and the report of the committee was read by Sec retary A. J. Miller. This report sets forth that the committee of twenty-four planters and tongers, accompanied by the two inspectors, A. J. Soaper and Thomas J. Hudgins, having provided themselves with the pungy "Gibbons" lines, and the frugal provision-ches to the Mobjack and at ourse began a active warfare against the innocen

Mr. J. B. Donovan addressed the meeting at some length and his speech was well received. I enclose the following resolution offered by T. J. Christian, which was unanimously adopted: "That whereas we believe in a moderate utilization of the planting-grounds in the waters of Tidewater Virginia, we in unmistakable measures condemn the wholesale staking off of the natural cyster-rocks of our rivers and even our bays and planting shells upon the same, thus taking sole ownership of natural cyster-rocks that hitherto fed our wives and children."

NO ASYLUM SOUTH OF PHILADELPHIA.

It is singular there is no inobrate asylum south of Philadelphia. They have several very well-regulated institutions in the West and they pay well, I think. It is, however, not at all convenient to send friends and natients so far away from home. It is expensive and inconvenient in many ways.

Our people are yet too poor to pay the high prices usually charged at these private hospitals. At the Pinel here $50 was charged a month, and I think this was the lowest charged.

If, as suggested in the Disparcy a day or two ago, we could begin by making this asylum an "annex" to one of the insane asylums, but giving it a different name, much expense might be saved, as no new medical staff would be necessary. If the annex grows and was self-sustaining, or nearly so, the State or city could build a hospital here, or, what would be much better, have this inebriate hospital a part or amez of a "City Hospital," which is now one of our greatest needs.

Another aspect.

In another aspect the establishment of an asylum might be urged. A committee is now considering the subject of reducing "criminal expenses." Crime follows close on the heels of drunkenness. If every drunken man appearing on the street were put into an asylum much expense or of the city are and the doctor and he said her to get too and I'd give her my seat, but should not one and a sylum in the desired were put into an asylum much expense for the cost of some criminal trials would be saved the State. This is an opinion held for years. The public generally have no idea of the cost of some criminal trials.

Negroes Crowding Cars.

Richamorn, June 13, 1851, To the Editor of the Dispatch:

I was delighted this morning by seeing in your paper that a move was on foot to request the street-car companies to place of the cost of similar condition. Another time two negrom and a condition on a negro or some or a minute of similar condition. Another time two negrom and the dector of the lease of the cost of similar man to be seen on a negro's car as for the negro on the white car. Let it be a pun-ishable offence, and, like Atlanta, Ga., we would have one place free from negro an-noyance. I will echo the voices of the ladies of Richmond, Long live the Pow-ported. But on not make a known as toolkship.

The best way to sustain the health is to assist it, to stimulate it. The best way to healthly stimulate is by the use of pure, unadulterated medicinal whiskey. Doctors have declared this, scientists have confirmed it, and both have insisted that buffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only strict, medicinal one in the market. Indeed it has become, as it deserves, a household necessity.
